

WHY CHOOSE HUNTERS AS YOUR INSURANCE BROKER?

Intensity of service

From an emerging insurance broker, you will receive highly focused attention with genuine interest in your affairs. We realize our ultimate success depends on our Clients' view of our performance. You are our best sales tool. HUNTERS actually gets that.

Accretive accountability

You will be dealing directly with a senior executive who is capably backed-up. Accountability is not diluted through multiple departments. The same people who manage your insurance - deliver on your insurer's promise to pay. Ultimate accountability rests with the owners - who are always available to you for tough situations or simply chatting about your business.

Our people enjoy their work

You get better results from people that have a passion for what they do. Risk and insurance is fun for us - we're excellent at it. HUNTERS attracts terrific people who like to be judged on their results and merit. Clients want results = good fit.

You always know what you're getting

With five generations of insurance reputation on the line, we make sure you know exactly how we are compensated for our services. HUNTERS does not enter into agreements that could in any way compromise our ability to act in your interests.

Relationships drive solid deals

Relationships, not broker size, drive insurance deal quality. Over decades, we have built and continue to build relationships with quality insurers and their people - translating to your cost-conscious insurance program.

It's a small world and we're connected

Over time, we have come to know and trust insurance business people just like us all over the world. When it comes to global execution for our Clients - we use resources we personally trust - not branch managers dictated to us by head office.

We can make the tough calls

We have a proven track-record as owner-managers balancing internal controls and flexibility to our Clients' advantage. Being nimble - making the tough call on the fly - adapting to Clients needs and processes - sets us apart.

Reduce insurance hassle-factor

Enough said.
